"Design is not just what it looks or feels like. Design is how it works." — Steve Jobs

What does Steve Jobs mean?

He means that you can't design anything if you don't know how to build it.

aerospace engineer — specialist who invent

Spacecraft engineer — the one who we need to explore galaxies or planets.

The future job:

Well it's kinda hard question for some reasons, but I have some interests.

So I would like to be a software engineer in cybersecurity or probably be a red team expert or smth.

The first one deals with such hard things as smart contracts or distributed systems & networking.

The second one is hard-level pentester who deals with a lot of attacks on IT infrastructure so he is closer to bad or blackhat hackers, but if he wants play as whitehat, then he needs to learn a lot about laws and its standards.

In reality I need to learn a lot of computer science and cybersecurity knowledge to find my own way.
